NOTE FROM BE

At this noon's meeting of the Executive Committee of the Mercantile Board, Mr. Lasater gave an extremely enthusiastic report on the Money Museum showing on Sunday and commented that it was very enthusiastically received by the employees and their families also. He went on a couple of minutes about it.

Dear Opel,

I thought your coin museum looked fabulous! Especially Ben Franklin and the counterfeiter. I have a few suggestions: One is that instead of having something about food as the headline you put "errors". Because I think that the error section is very interesting. Another is that you shouldn't display a coin cut into 5 bits when it was usually cut into 8. My last suggestion is that you make a quiz for the counterfeit money by putting DVH a switch by the counterfeit, and a switch by the genuine. The visitor flicks the switch by the one that they think is genuine. If they are right a light goes on. But the museum is already great.

Love,
Dan

Dear Evelyn and Eric:

Many, many thanks for the invitation to join you at the "opening" of the museum.....and as much as we would love to be there, I'm afraid there is NO way we can make it.

The Leloups - our French friends whose daughter's wedding we went to a little over a year ago - are finally coming to visit us so we can't very well be flitting out to St. Louis when we have to be getting ready to pick them up in New York. You can bet, though~~t~~, that we will get out your way as soon as possible because we are anxious to see both YOU and the museum.

As winters go - this one has been one for the book. Bitter cold but no rain or snow - so now we are dry as a bone and facing an acute water shortage. But I don't guess I have to tell you all about that. We saw the TV news picture of the hulks appearing along the Mississippi River due to your ~~xxxxx~~ lack of water.

Have a cocktail for us on the 7th and we will be thinking about you.

Best love always,

Mary

Dear Eric:-

I regret that it will not be practical for me to be present in St. Louis on March 7 in response to the invitation recently received to attend the private preview opening of the Mercantile Money Museum featuring what I'm certain are some most interesting specimens from your collection.

Frankly, I don't have an obligation which I really consider more important, but it is one of longer standing. A couple months ago I agreed to participate on that date in a team bowling event under the sponsorship of our chief accountant.

Unfortunately, Chet also has an obligation for that date which is involved in a long scheduled trip into Texas, so he will also be unable to attend.

I have, however, discussed the coverage of this event with Bob Lemke, with whom I believe you are acquainted, and he is making plans to be in attendance.

The next time I'm in St. Louis, which may be the latter part of March, I'm going to make it a point to stop by the Mercantile Tower and view the collection. I know I'll enjoy it.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Eric & Evelyn

Beatrice and I are sorry we well not witness the opening of the museum because we know it is an original and remarkable thing that you have planned and nurtured step by step for so long, to say nothing of the lifetime care and personal talent involved in the collection.

It is truly a masterpiece of creation that will reflect in so many beneficeal and enjoyable ways.

I certainly wish that my schedule would permit my attending the private preview opening of the Mercantile Money Museum that features items from your collection. Both Mary Ann and I would welcome the opportunity of seeing you again and a return visit to St. Louis. We both have warm attachments and close personal friends in the Gateway City.

It is with reluctance that I had to send regrets, but I do want you to know that our thoughts are with you and want to wish you every success for what I am sure is a fabulous exhibit.

Duplicated at Union Station would be a knockout but once a year — perhaps in fall or twice a year at the most — sort of a Home Fair in Paris. I'm sure you are familiar with Home Fair, Evelyn. If not I'll tell you about it.

Peewee Mills was in shoppe and said Senior Symphony Women turned Beppy Caravan over to Juniors. There were some live wires Juniors that first year but unfortunately some Seniors resented them. Too bad everyone doesn't have Evelyn Newsom's ability to get along with others.

Thanks for inviting Dalcie & me for Saturday. We are looking forward to coming.

We know this is the culmination of years of patient devotion to your numismatic collection, so while we will not be physically present, we will be toasting you in absentia and know that the museum will bring many hours of pleasure to you in years to come as you explain the displays to visitors.

Hopefully, on our next visit we can have a personally guided tour.

Dear Eric:

It isn't just because more recently I have had a substantial amount of time to read the paper but because of the very impressive article about your numismatic museum at Mercantile. Virginia noticed it first and so I have had the occasion to read it several times. As we have talked briefly before, the Newtons are well aware of your interest in this area of activity but never realized the extent of your stature and "authority". Congratulations are no doubt in order and those we happily convey.

Perhaps you have had a similar experience as the Newtons are enjoying now in sharing the pleasure of accomplishments of one who is considered a close and long time friend. We have always appreciated the many courtesies you have extended us and so this adds to our pleasure at your success in this line of endeavor as well as your professional efforts at Edison Brothers. Best wishes to Evelyn and warmest personal regards to you both.

Dear Eric,

Today's Globe has a fine article about you and it prompted me to raise my voice out of the past to congratulate you. You may remember me as Dr Thomas S. Duncan's graduate student in Greek and Latin at Washington University. I haven't forgotten you or your wife — We attend St Michael and St Georgie Church and have been by your house frequently going to and fro. My name was Edna Benedict. I married a Chemistry teacher at Washington U; later he went to St Louis University where he was teaching when he died. (in fact his first P.h D student, Father George Tipton S.J. is being buried tomorrow) My name at that time and for many years was Cooper. After being

(I taught there 17 years), My name for the past years has been Adams- Ken also taught Chemistry at St Louis U. I explain these details of my life so you'll know - maybe - why I am.

My late son was very interested in collecting coins - his interests were American Coins I believe he left a very good collection which is being held in escrow now. My daughter has in her possession some of his collection - So you see the interest in our case continued over the years.

I want you to know how very excited we are about the tremendous experience we had Saturday evening. The museum is unique and fascinating. I was particularly impressed with the contribution of Blacks. I knew about the woman but not the men. I also thought the picture of Erie and the American Indian was a great vignette of history. I never knew about the early restoration of paper money. I could go on and on.

As an adult I am grateful to you but for children this museum is an invaluable learning experience.

I told you before but I must repeat — the library is pure Evelyn Newman in decor and Erie in content.

Mrs. Grobman and I thoroughly enjoyed the Preview of your collection at the Money Museum on Saturday evening. I tried, several times, to walk by and congratulate you but each time I approached there was a circle of people crowding around you.

Most of the coin and paper collections I have seen before have been synoptic and chronological but yours was displayed in a series of themes which I found to be extremely interesting and imaginative. And Ben Franklin almost stole the show.

I was glad to have the opportunity to see the collection and the Museum and, through a copy of this note, am expressing my thanks to Mr. Lasater for inviting us.

Dear Evelyn & Eric -

What a Triumph! That was truly a beautiful, exciting and festive evening! Even I, who am so ignorant in that field, found so many fascinating aspects of the Money field — the Money changers and the Creators and Dealers — the "Black Aspect". Even found the tiny Coin Collector — my Mother had one when I was a child. It had belonged to her mother.

I found them permanent "reference" pull binding. There did you get that idea? Just like anything like him, born in the Middle Ages.

Thank you for calling us at that late hour, and the opportunity to share the Good News. Have something - anything, Eric? Salmonella-wise. Bradley -

One of the exhibits in my coin museum is Errors. One of the errors in the opening of the museum was not knowing that you had sent flowers to the Lasaters and to us. They were absolutely beautiful and have been on display until today when I took the card for my book of memorabilia. I enclose a photocopy of the card which both the bank's public relations department and I and Evelyn construed to be a gift from the Lasaters to us. I wrote Don Lasater a gracious thank you which I now have to withdraw and suggest that he write a letter of thank you. You names were in a small card which was in an envelope behind the enclosed card.

What a very thoughtful thing it was for you to welcome the museum with a floral tribute. I hope you accept this delayed appreciation and get a smile from the confusion.

Dear Mr. Newman,

It was nice to have a moment to visit at the St. Louis show but we were both too busy to spend the time I had hoped for. As you may know my primary collecting interest (every coin dealer has to collect something in the numismatic field) for the last five years has been Kansas obsolete notes and related items. I felt the uncut sheet on the city of Leavenworth was a real prize as it is the only uncut sheet I have been able to find.

I remember some years ago when Joe Flynn was still collecting Kansas obsolete he told me that you had the largest accumulation of anyone in the country. I would be most interested in buying any duplicates that you may wish to sell to add to my collection.

Hoping to hear from you soon.

Re: Money Museum

Dear Eric

Yes, indeed, you have a healthy exciting child. I am very proud of the family as a whole, as I look back and ahead. Nothing more proud of, than the Money Museum because I lived as a part, if part time witness to the intelligence and dedication that you put into it. I can attest to its historical attraction to you for I listened to you explain the environment that prevailed during the time of a currency's circulation. The life style and conditions that prevailed at each date was of educational interest to you. Never did you refer, in any instance to the money value per se. I was fascinated by your interest. Many lessons are to be learned from the museum not the least is the intellectual and educational interest of its founder. I am glad that Bunny was helpful and, yes it will be a pleasure for me to support it, too.

Respectfully,

Dear Harry and Ruth:

Your poetic response to the invitation to the opening of our Museum was very cute and it was very thoughtful for you to write. Whatever publicity comes out about it does not excuse you from having a special visit with help yourself privileges. There are some interesting surprises. I have missed seeing you because I have been concentrating all of my numismatic time on completing the Museum.

I am writing to see if you would be interested in this 1910 bill as it is very old- It is a large bill, which together of many others was paid to my husband, a professional man by a farmer- He gave me this and have kept it for a curio-

I've reading about you in the Globe- Democrat yesterday I thought you might want it if interested-

Thank you

Dear Mr. Newman,

I just wanted to write to tell you what a sincere pleasure it was for me to have the opportunity to have lunch with you last Friday with my father. I have long heard so many favorable things about you, your fabulous collection and your knowledge from my father that I was very happy finally to have the chance to meet you.

Since our lunch I have been able to visit your museum at Mercantile and was exceedingly impressed with the exhibit, and most especially the manner in which they were presented. To me, the displays were easy to understand, well sequenced and historically informative. A combination which I rarely am able to find.

I am most excited at the prospect which you mentioned at lunch about possible selling some collectors Colonial Currency and Spanish Dubloons. As I told you, I would be most interested in seeing what you might be handling perhaps to purchase some for my own collection. I have been reading your book which you so kindly inscribed for me and feel that I soon may be able to scratch the surface of being a more knowledgable collector of Colonial Currency.

I realize how very busy you are with your travelling, the Money Museum and of course your business and in no way wish to infinge on your time. I would, however, be very interested in again discussing with you the history of Colonial Currency. If at any time that might be possible, I would be delighted to meet with you.

Again, let me thank you for taking time out of your busy schedule to have lunch with my father and me. It was unquestionably one of the most informative and enjoyable I have every had.

Most sincerely,

Dear Evelyn and Eric:

Many, many thanks for sending us the clipping about the museum. It arrived this morning and we have already devoured and enjoyed every word of it. Must say, though, that we don't think your pictures did you two justice!

Still sorry we couldn't make the big bash - and it MUST have been quite an affair - but just then we were busy getting ready for the French invasion. The Leloups were here for a week- needless to say, it was a strenuous one - and I could babble on for hours about all the funny things that happened, but I'll spare you the details until some time we can tell you about them. Hope that won't be too far in the future.

Am happy to report that spring has sprung and it is certainly welcome after the cold winter we had. Just hope April will live up to its reputation and bring us plenty of showers to ease the damned drought. Otherwise, we stand of good chance of enduring water rationing as I understand lots of other places are already doing.

Best love always,

Mary

Thank you for your letter which was waiting for me when I returned from a two-week trip to California. I very much appreciate your nice comments concerning our Garrett Collection sale. I only wish that I had been able to spend another year on it -- but I guess that in all walks of life and business time is the most precious commodity. The total realization to Johns Hopkins was over three times their appraisal and over twice their most optimistic expectations!

I read with interest the Coin World article on your museum in St. Louis. It sounds as though it is beautifully done (as I would expect with anything you do!) and is quite an attraction. I look forward to visiting it next time I am in your city.

Dear Evelyn and Eric,

Enclosed are some of the children' letters relating to their trip to the Money Museum. It has been difficult to be selective because their enthusiasm ran high--but I think both of you will find these exciting because the children were so stimulated. They took notes about the individual exhibits and looked like miniature investigative reporters.

Mr. Ernest Stewart, Public Relations, at Mercantile has been most cooperative. The enclosed photograph is one he took. I'm mailing him some letters also.

Like the kids, thanks again for this exciting Museum provided by you and Mercantile.

The enthusiastic and thoughtful packets of letters from the group of fifth grade children whom you brought to the Museum was one of the most outstanding evidences of reassurance I have ever had in numismatics. They showed perception and thoughtfulness.

I believe that as more and more school children see the exhibit and talk about it there will be an increasing number of student visitors.

Similarly we are finding that adults are stimulated.

I thank you personally for sending this group of letters and hope that you will thank the children on our behalf for writing the letters.

OLD TIMER ASSAY COMMISSIONERS SOCIETY
U. S. A.

April 30, 1981

Dear Honorable Commissioners:

In February I promised myself that I would get the O.T.A.C.S letter out no later than April. As you can see by the date - I have made it - barely.

Our seventeenth O.T.A.C.S. gala meeting will be July 30th at the New Orleans Hilton Hotel, 9:30 P.M. in the Hilton/Melrose rooms right after the A.N.A. Educational program. As usual, it will be the fun and pleasure of getting together with our group of O.T.A.C.S. Members and Guests. Hors d'oeuvres, cash bar, plus whatever fun we can come up with. Wasn't last years skit interesting!!

We have a problem on prices of medals. Like everything else, they continue to go up. The bronze this year costs us approximately $14.50, while the silver cost is approximately $38.00. These prices include cost of making, dies, and sculpting. The medal will be another outstanding one with New Orleans, Louisiana theme and well worth having. Our member, Barbara Hyde, will again be our sculptor.

Our thanks to Chet Krause for our address labels again this year. This really helps to get the letters out quicker.

PLEASE reply as soon as possible. It takes a lot of work off of Thelma and myself if you will do so. The meeting is three weeks early this year and I must get the orders in by June 20th.

To those who don't get to the meetings, we do thank you very much for your five dollar membership dues. This helps on our expenses throughout the year and is our only source of revenue to pay expenses. Thelma and I donate our time and effort free. Everything that comes in goes back to the membership in one way or another.

We were able to order a few more lapel pins and pendants so, if you should wish another, I have them at $8.50 each delivered in New Orleans or will mail to you immediately at $9.00. Please specify lapel pin or pendant.

It is time to start thinking of ways to re-establish the United States Assay Commission. The government is bringing out Gold medals, possibly Commemorative coins, medals, proof sets, and other items of interest. Why shouldn't they be checked by a group of American Citizens to make sure we are getting what we should be getting; purity of medal used, beauty and perfection of product. We still need an Assay Commission. Let us hear your suggestions on this.

Best wishes to all, hope to see most of you in Phun City, New Orleans and again, get your reply back quickly.

Very cordially yours,

Thelma
